This natural oil is derived without the use of any substances or methods which alter the composition of natural oils. That means, virgin oil is extracted from mechanical methods, as is done in ancient India, that the oil has been produced naturally in villages since ancient times using Wood pressed.

- Only traditional non hybrid seeds with the real medicinal properties are used.
- Processed with wooden expeller where the nutritional value of the oil is highly preserved without any loss in it.
- The wood used in our expeller is 'albizia lebbeck' which is very rich in medicinal properties that makes our product a unique, since our product carries the same Medicinal effects in it.
- Our oil expelling method is the best known ancient method which is far better than cold press.
- Free from preservatives, paraffin, refining chemicals, argemone oil etc.
- Hygienically processed and packed with extreme care.
- The smoking point of our products are extremely high when compared to refined oils.
- The purest natural product with an international quality.
